Cotton Referendum Will Close

The period December 2 through December 6 has been set for the marketing quota referendums for the 1969 crop of upland cotton. The referendum will be held by mail, as it has been for the past 2 years. Notices of farm acreage allotment will be mailed to operators of cotton farms prior to the referendum. If quotas are approved by at least two-thirds of the upland growers voting, the program under which payments are made to operators will be in effect. While all program details of the upland cotton program will not be announced until after the November 8 crop report of 1969 crop of upland cotton, the Agriculture Department, the farm domestic allotment has already been set at 65 percent of the farm acreage allotment. Farmers who sign up early in the upland cotton program and who plant at least 30 percent of their farms domestic acreage allotment but not in excess of the permitted acreage for the farm will be eligible for price-support loans on all their cotton crop and for price-support payments based on the projected yield and the farm domestic allotment. Upland cotton projected yields -- used to determine cotton program payments -- vary by individual farms, based on county and state average yields. State yields are based on 1967 harvested yields, adjusted for abnormal weather conditions, for trends, and for changes in production practices.

BODIES FOR SCIENCE

Medical and dental schools require approximately 7,000 bodies yearly for instruction, the Catholic Digest states. But only 600 are received each year through bequests; in all, medical schools are able to obtain (from unclaimed bodies and other sources) fewer than 3,000 of the needed 7,000 bodies.

AS INFLATION progresses, prosperity becomes increasingly illusory. Industrial News Review says, "Good times become meaningless statistical figures. When more dollars are received for the same amount received for the same amount of work, in other words the same productivity, prices can go in only one direction — up."

So now we find ourselves on a treadmill moving faster and faster just to stand still.

THE EXPRESSION "as every school child knows" may be wearing thin. It is supposed to imply that if every school child knows something to be a fact it naturally follows that all adults must be equally well-informed. The likely truth is that the school child may be several jumps ahead of his parents in knowledge about important affairs.

Many school children may be more familiar than a lot of older, supposedly well-informed people, just compare as high on the list of important affairs that should be receiving wide consideration was of the recent election.

Might give us older folk something to think about. The awareness of school children knowing more about the candidates and about many things may rub off on us less well-informed adults.

ACCORDING TO A recent release of the Industrial News Review happenings that affect the future of every individual national and international problems are inseparable from local welfare.

For months, the experts, the commentators and the computers will be busy analyzing the Presidential Election of 1968. Politicians will be holding their own postmortems in a search for mistakes and miscalculations so that they may be able to judge voters' moods more accurately next time. Other than the candidate who spent agonizing hours as neck-and-neck vote tallies were reported down to the last precinct, the poll takers themselves, with reputations at stake must have suffered a harrowing experience.

Prior to the election, the two leading pollsters, Gallup and Harris, came up with widely divergent findings on the standings of the presidential candidates. Both, using the most scientific methods of sampling voters' opinions, were as much as 25 per cent apart in reporting voter sentiment in cities with populations of 1 million or more. This, by the way, of the election; the polls, which of the election; the polls, which indicated a toss-up. But, by that time many had discounted the usefulness of the polls, which is a mistake and overlooks the primary purpose of polls.

As The National Observer pointed out in a lengthy analytical feature on poll taking, "Polls cannot predict elections, although most Americans think they can. Polls, in fact, cannot report anything without playing a margin of error of 6 per cent. So what good are they? They are, in fact, good for a lot of things. They show trends. They show movement. They can measure attitudes. They can judge intensity. They can profile the voters' thoughts about a politician's personality."

Every election is governed by human factors that no poll taker can take into account any more than a state planner can plan the perfect society. In a free country, millions of individual decisions concerning political candidates for office are made on the basis of events and personal judgments that will almost certainly be a re-natal of efforts to change the presidential election process.

Many feel the mechanisms of the electoral college is too cumbersome. Perhaps so, but, the fact remains that in spite of the alleged disruptive intervention of Mr. Wallace's American Independent Party, the U.S. political system has shown the world that nearly 75 million persons can go to the polls in an orderly manner and designate their choice of a man to represent them in the highest public office in the land for the next four years. Equally important, the losing candidates have closed ranks with the president-elect to help bring the country together in tackling the formidable tasks that lie ahead for the nation. In a time of stress, our system of representative government has shown great strength through the ballot box and through the goodwill of the candidates. What more can a free people ask?

It is hard to say just what the price of milk will be come December 15th but you can rest assured it will be higher. We have come to accept the rise in prices of almost everything due to inflation but . . . Why must the Milk Control Board MAKE the price go up by increasing the minimum price? Maybe Dr. Wallace Miller of Enterprise can answer this, we sure can't. It is entirely possible that a little less price fixing would save the consumer money.

TELEPHONES . . . boy, that subject has been on everyone's lips this week. The phone bills came out Monday and they reflected the increased rates. Here again we have no quarrel with reasonable price increases for proper services rendered but . . . the increase is unreasonable and the service is poor, just ask anyone using General Telephone service! At least 25% of the calls coming to the Clipper in the last year have been wrong numbers, in spite of repeated attempts by the local service personnel to stop the mistakes. This Direct Distant Dialing that should be so wonderful is worse than the same system in Europe that was just patched following WWII bombing . . . we know, we have tried to use both! We might also state that if politics had not gotten into the thing the telephone company could have gotten a fair increase and possibly would be trying to replace our rotten phone equipment.

The mayor of Mobile has given the movie "The Fox" publicity they could never have purchased at any price. The unsuccessful efforts to have the movie banned in Mobile will bring the crowds flocking in, regardless of the merits or demerits of the movie. Any future ads announcing the movie need only to read, "We are showing 'The Fox' such and such day." People will go just to see what the fuss was all about.

Congressman George Andrews always gives an entertaining speech with his many stories to emphasize the point of his talk. His talk Monday to the Elba Rotary Club was extra good to us due to one statement. He said something that we had said publicly only the day before. Andrews talked about "doubting the sincerity of the Party post talks when they argue for days about whether to use a square or rectangular table." Maybe the warriors of old England had the answer to that one, when they became the "Knights of the Round Table."

The Elba City Council has held so many meetings since taking office in October that we showed up Monday night at seven to report another meeting. The mayor and councilmen were all at home, snuggled up before the fire. There was no meeting scheduled but we seem to form habits too easily.

Christmas decorations are going up rapidly around Elba these days. Those who have the opportunity to visit the den of the T. K. Dorsey home are in for a treat. Mrs. Dorsey made everyone of the ornaments on their large tree. She started last January and made them from old costume jewelry she had been collecting for years with this in mind.

Mack Wise called last week and was upset. We have voiced the opinions of several authorities and ourselves in this column but not Mack's opinion. He stated that he was an expert on everything and willing to be quoted on anything! If any of you need his advice before we do, his telephone number is 897-2800 or 897-6200. The latter is his home phone and a party line so try the first number. His opinion of his knowledge has not decreased since his wife received the garden club "Yard of the month" award.

There have been a number of official announcements about new industries around the state and we have heard several rumors about new industry for Elba but we are fast classifying them as . . . rumors, since no positive action has taken place to our knowledge.

Powder Puff Ballgame

The "E" Club at Elba High School is sponsoring a Powder Puff Football game Monday night. The game will be played at 7:00 and will be in the high stadium. Those who attended the last powder puff game saw a real game with several girls showing talents that any regular football team could use!

HOW MUCH DID A COLOR TV COST 25 YEARS AGO?

Since it didn't exist 25 years ago there is no fair way to estimate the cost. The same reasoning applies to the cost of today's prescriptions. Most of today's drugs didn't even exist 25 years ago, so they could not be bought at any price. When you consider the lives that have been saved, the rapid cures that have resulted from modern medicines, it's no wonder we say:

The brilliant evening star is a symbol of many things to many folk. Mariners hail it as a good omen, for it usually forecasts a clear, calm night and smooth sailing. The shepherd tending his flock on a desolate hillside gratefully notes its appearance in the heavens, for its friendly light offers an intangible sort of companionship during his lonely vigil. To many, the star is representative of God's infinite power and wisdom.

Just as this star touches hearts in countless different ways, so may the Church bring to those in all walks of life, peace and comfort which lead to a happier, more fruitful pattern of life.

Let us make the Church our guiding light. We can brighten our lives if we accept the teaching of the Scriptures as guideposts along the pathway to future endeavors.

R&D COORDINATOR

Cameron I. yle, coordinator for the Wiregrass Resource Conservation and Development Project was in our county last week. He was interested in the progress of several Project proposals including recreational facilities in Enterprise, and Elba.

WUC G. L. Edwards accompanied I. yle on his visit. A most meaningful experience was a talk with Mayor M. N. Brown of Enterprise about the steps a city or town must take in order to qualify for Federal funds—both loans and grants. The more we learn about the effort put in such projects as the new Enterprise City Hall, the more we appreciate our elected officials and their work in our behalf.

I. yle and other SCS technicians are interested in assisting all the towns and communities in our Project Area to obtain the assistance available in planning and developing their natural and human resources.

CATFISH FARMING

The first in a series of ponds to be used in catfish production has been completed by John D. Plant of Elba. According to Plant's present plans, there will be some half dozen more ponds built before he reaches his goal.

A well was dug before the first pond was built, which will provide water for several ponds. Natural springs will also contribute to the water supply.

Visions of a "catfish restaurant" are also in the back of Plant's mind. SCS technicians are assisting in planning and constructing the ponds for the catfish operation.

ACP SIGN-UP IN PROGRESS

Several applicants for ACP practices have already called the SCS office to see if we had received a referral on their requests. The sign-up period is still in progress at the ASOS Office in New Brockton, and it will be several weeks before we receive any referrals.

We urge all district co-operators to get in their request for such practices as terraces, waterways, ponds, gully control, and drainage they plan to install in 1969 during this sign-up period which ends November 29th.

time high for the South as a whole. Value of the region's harvest delivered to mills last year totaled $673,022,000, a gain of 2 percent over 1966, the previous high.

Mr. Kelly attested that in 1967 the South accounted for 63 percent of the nation's pulpwood supply, as compared to approximately 61 percent in the previous year. The extent of the market, he added, is indicated by the fact that pulpwood is harvested in 90 percent of the counties in the South.

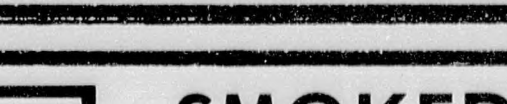

He emphasized that although America is a leader among nations in the use of wood products, there is no danger at this time of running out of timber. Surveys of the forest resources show that growth still exceeds harvesting and losses from natural

Farmers Approve New Head Named

Cotton

Coffee County farmers voting in the Cotton Referendum approved marketing quotas for 1969 crop of Upland Cotton, Roy L. Ellis, Chairman, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation County Committee announced.

The return from cotton growers referendum conducted by mail during the period of December 2 thru December 6, showed a total of 655 YES votes and 9 NO votes.

Marketing quotas will become effective for the 1969 crop if approved by at least two-thirds of the voters nationally. Penalties will be in effect for 1969 and price support payments in addition to loans will be available to growers.

Further details will be furnished to individual farmers as soon as the results of the referendum is available national.

WESLEY JACKSON

WORTH TALKING ABOUT

"To the young people of America today, I say this: it's true that you are inheriting a world you never made. But this was also true of every generation. The great, exciting difference is that you live in a world you can change. Never has it mattered so much in the world what the people of one nation do—the vision they hold out. It's our chance today, and your chance tomorrow, to give a new dimension to the American dream, a dimension which can change America and enable America to help change the world."

Richard M. Nixon

City Councilmen Hold Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Elba City Council was held Monday night in the City Hall. All members of the group were present. The first order of business was to discuss and approve a motion to erect and improve present city limit signs. Also to be erected are police jurisdiction signs.

Councilman Cook reported that the City had done everything the Jaycees had asked in assisting with the construction of the Jaycee Park and playground.

Councilman Hawkins reported that he planned to wrap up the new city pool in Mulberry Heights during his forthcoming vacation soon after Christmas.

The council heard a report on the dangerous condition of the "Thrill Hill" road, or Rainbow Drive. The group decided to work out a plan to close the street until improvements could be made.

The council voted to deposit the 10 sales tax in a special account, at least until the completion of the hospital. Part of this money is pledged to retirement or recently sold hospital expansion bonds. Several members of the Hospital Board have expressed concern over the possibility that the hospital or nursing home would need additional operation money and the city would not have it.

This leads to the establishment of the special account. Until several months ago the 10 sales tax was going to the hospital board and under the present plan only that needed to retire the bonds will be given the hospital unless emergency arises.

Mayor Brunson reported that an old Dorsey van is being converted into a City Jail. It will be parked in New Town on the present City parking lot.

The council discussed the use of 55 gallons garbage cans and instructed the garbage department to condemn these cans as residences as well as residences.

A special problem at the Big B was discussed with J. G. Weeks and the City Clerk and Garbage Department is working with him to devise a way to handle their big volume of trash.

The council voted to retain the $5 charge for using the recreation hall at the pool and to charge an additional $5 deposit to a responsible adult signing.

A meeting was held in the City Hall on Monday.

PEANUT BOWL BOUND . . . Quarterback Don Page . . . Livingston University's total offense leader . . . will start at quarterback in the first annual college Peanut Bowl, when the Tigers face Quachita Baptist University of Arkadelphia, Ark., Saturday, December 21st at Dothan, Page . . . a 1968 first team Alabama College Conference selection . . . threw 19 touchdowns, passed 1,060 yards, and added 478 rushing for a total offense of 1,538 during a 10 game season .

Home Agent

Warns Shoppers Of Gyp Games

"This is the season to be wary!" Associate County Extension Chairman Sara Hutchinson reminds holiday shoppers that the Christmas season is the prime time for consumer traps.

Shoppers should beware of discount-priced, name appliances.

Sara Hutchinson reminds consumers that this is the season, too, for following the good people of South Alabama in their fight against these unreasonable rate increases. Brewer told Cook that the rates are the highest anywhere and would be unreasonable if the services were good.

Brewer further stated that according to his investigation, the service in the entire area was inadequate, to say the least.

A meeting was held in the City Hall on Monday.

Governor Brewer To Assist In Phone Fight

This week and the ten counties effected by the increased rates voted to retain legal council to fight the rate increase.

Rescue Squad To Hold Turkey Shoot

The Elba Rescue Squad will hold a Turkey Shoot at Legion Field on Saturday, December 21st. The shoot begins at 9 a.m. Proceeds from this shoot will be used towards purchasing new equipment.

The rather young Elba Rescue Squad has found their expert services in great demand. There is presently one ambulance on duty and if it is out of town on a call, there is nothing other than members can do in emergencies occurring within Elba. The Rescue Squad is therefore collecting money for another ambulance.

Elba Band Needs Money For Trip

The Elba band will journey to Montgomery on December 28th to appear in the annual Blue-Gray classic. Money is necessary to pay for this trip and anyone wishing to make a contribution need only contact school and band officials. Several band booster members are also working on this project.
